

Approaches to governance in practice

Helen Barber, Head of Co-operative Advice and Policy,
Co-operatives UK

Governance – is all processes of governing

- Having a structure which is fit for purpose
- Having the right people in the right roles with the right skills
- Ensuring that the right systems and processes are in place

A structure which is fit for purpose

- Operating under the right legislative framework
- Follows good practice
- Tailored to and works for the individual organisation

Governance Codes

- Consumer code – first developed in 1996 and now on its third edition
- Worker code – first developed in 2006 and now on its second edition
- Agricultural code – developed late last year in partnership with SAOS – the Scottish Agricultural federal body.

Tailored to and works for the individual organisation

- Model Rules
- Governance Audits
- Practical Advice and support
